The screenshot displays the Global Open Access Portal (GOAP) website. At the top left is the GOAP logo, which features a stylized orange and yellow globe with the letters 'GOAP' in bold orange text and 'GLOBAL OPEN ACCESS PORTAL' in smaller black text below it. To the right of the logo, the title 'Global Open Access Portal' is written in a large, dark font. Below the title, a navigation breadcrumb trail reads: 'and Information » GOAP » Access by Region » Arab States » Algeria'. The main content area is titled 'Algeria' in a large blue font. To the left of the text is the flag of Algeria, which consists of a green field with a white crescent and star on a white background. The text to the right of the flag states: 'Open Access is a recent movement in Algeria; however, there has already been positive and steady feedback on it from variety of stakeholders; librarians, academics and researchers - all support and participate in the OA movement. As of Feb 2017, there are 13 Open Access digital repositories registered in OpenDOAR.' Below this, a paragraph continues: 'Moreover, there are 9 Open Access peer reviewed journals published in Algeria which are indexed in DOAJ: Journal of Fundamental and Applied Sciences, Journal of New Technology and Materials, LARHYSS Journal, E-BAHITH Review, Revue des Science Sociales, Mediterranean Journal of Modeling and Simulation, Annales du Patrimoine, Algerian Journal of Natural Products, and PhytoChem &BioSub Journal. Algerian researchers publish articles in international OA periodicals. For instance, in 2013, there were 43 research articles published with BioMed Central – an STM (Science, Technology and Medicine), pioneer in the OA publishing model, and among them most viewed articles published by researchers from: Agro-Veterinary and Biology, Blida University. The more recent statistics on articles published are not available at this moment.' At the bottom of the page, the heading 'Enabling Environment' is visible in a large blue font, followed by a line of text that is partially cut off: 'There are 50 Universities, 20 University centers, 40 research centers, 20 faculties'.
