Message of Special Issue Edition

The promise is renewed with the series of issues of the Journal of Rights and Freedoms, as it reveals to its esteemed readers a new number of articles in the English language. The electronic publishing portal for Algerian national Journals, which is without a doubt an important and serious step to accompany the process of publishing articles and promoting national magazines in various disciplines, paving the way for them to rise to the ranks of international Journals.

in this endeavor, the efforts of the Journal 's editorial team have tended to arbitrate and publish a significant and varied number of scientific articles, as they are distinguished by their distinguished scientific richness and the diversity of their specialties What distinguished the special edition is that it contained an article from the national universities, as professors and researchers from different national universities participated in accurate specializations in discussing and analyzing legal ideas, and proposing feasible solutions to the problems under consideration in the hope that it would receive a scientific resonance for those who are interested in it, and do not miss us. After this, however, we extend our sincere thanks and gratitude to everyone who contributed and helped in issuing this number of members of the editorial team, and members of the scientific committee of the magazine asking God Almighty to make all their efforts in the balance of their good deeds.

As we congratulate all publishers, and those who are interested in the contents of this special issue of the Journal, we will give them another date, God willing, in the next issue.
